

Library

Remember when you were little, and the library was one of your favorite places to go? Do you recall its smell, the atmosphere, the ability to check out as many books as you wanted?

A library is a place filled to the brim with stories to explore – stories to be taken home and enjoyed each and every day. A place you go to when you are looking for a quiet space to sit and read the paper, chat with other book lovers, and use the library computer for research. It's a place where you'll find a binder full of local advertisers with flyers or cards about businesses you may want to use.

Is it time to visit and check out a book to read in your free time? As you search through the stacks for the book you want to read, perhaps you'll feel that thrill again, thrilled at the simple idea of checking out a book to enjoy for free — excited at the opportunity to read just for the sake of reading.

If you have not checked a book out from the library just for fun in a while, you are encouraged to do so.

No card is required. To check out a book, simply fill in the pertinent information in the check-out binder, and enjoy!

When you're done reading your book, please place it in the Return basket, and fill in the date in the check-out binder.

BOOK DONATIONS are gratefully accepted, but limited to the following:

- Fiction and Non-Fictions published after 2010
- Classics
- audio-books

Please leave donations in the Return Basket.

LIBRARY VOLUNTEERS are: Sheilagh MacDonald, Judy Baldwin, Louise Oliver, Shirley Russell, Beth Meade and Jenny Fitzgerald.
